CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter presents the conclusion and suggestion as the final result of this research entitled “The Associative Meaning in Maher Zain’s Song Lyric”. Meanwhile, the writer puts forward a plan for the next researcher who conducts the research in same field in the suggestion.

5.1. Conclusion

Based on the findings and discussion in the previous chapter, the researcher concludes that there are thirty six of associative meaning in song lyric of Maher Zain New Album 2013 Rise up / Colors of Peace by the title “This Worldly Life” and Album “Forgive Me” 2012 by the title “Number One for Me”, “Love will Prevail” and “Freedom”. The findings are nine data of connotative meaning, four data of social meaning, eleven data of affective meaning, five data of reflected meaning and seven data of collocative meaning. So, the associative meaning that most used in song lyric of Maher Zain is affective meaning.

The singer used connotative meaning because it has relationship with the individual experience and the real world terms. Besides, it includes the physical, psychological and social properties. Then, the singer used social meaning because it shows social circumstance, especially related to the family and experience in apologies for mother. The singer also used affective meaning to express the personal feelings or attitudes of the singer to the listener through those songs. Furthermore, the singer used reflected meaning because it gives the new meaning based on the context. The last, the singer used collocative meaning because it is communicated through association with word tends to occur in the environment and it has different sense when it is combined with another noun.

Moreover, the song lyric of Maher Zain discussed above has relationship with the hadith of the Prophet. Briefly, it has connection with hadiths about orphans, murder, mother or parents, life in the world, life in hereafter, the big sins, the presence of ease after sorrow, spirit for useful things, the brotherhood and unity among fellow muslim.

5.2. Suggestion

This research used the song lyric of Maher Zain in New Album 2013 Rise up / Colors of Peace by the title “This Worldly Life” and Album “Forgive Me” 2012 by the title “Number One for Me”, “Love will Prevail” and “Freedom” as the data resource. So, the researcher suggests to the future researcher to use different data resources such as in short story, novel, magazines, movie, etc. The researcher also suggests to apply the different focusing on such just focus in one of associative meaning or focus on one of seven type of meaning such as conceptual meaning and thematic meaning. Then, the writer suggests to compare between one theory with other theories to make valid analysis.