CHAPTER III
RESEARCH METHOD

In this chapter, the writer presents about the research approach, data and source of data, procedure of data collection, and method of data analysis.

3.1 Research Approach

To achieve the purpose of this research, the writer uses descriptive qualitative research. Descriptive is giving description of something. It is aimed to describe something and to deal the meaning of thing and view of meaning is associate. In addition, Creswell (1994:1) affirms that qualitative research is defined as an inquiry process of understanding a social or human problem, based on building a complex, holistic picture, formed with words, reporting detailed views of informants, and conducted in a natural setting. Qualitative research method is a type of scientific research.

When someone analyzes using qualitative research method, it means the person analyzes broader. He/she has to know the values, opinions, behaviors, and social contexts of particular populations. It is formed with some words and reports some information. The writer concerns with descriptive qualitative method in his research. The writer uses this approach because in the data analysis, the writer explains the values, opinions, behaviors, and social context by using some word. It focused on the conversation between phil broker as the main character and the other characters who did the dialogue with him in Homefront movie which deal with utterances related to the flouting of maxims.

The writer uses descriptive qualitative as his methodology because it discusses deeper about the utterances among the main character and the other characters in Homefront movie. Before doing discussing about it, the writer does some inquiries process in order to know and understand the characterization of each characters and the plot itself. In order to the writer can explain and discuss it easily.

3.4 Instrument

The instrument of this study was the writer himself because he collected and analyzed the data by himself. He spends a great deal of time for watching movie and understanding the utterance of Phil Broker. He evaluated the utterances to find the answer of the research question by using his knowledge. He conducts the data with her original work without any questioners to solve the problem because the data is written texts. He became the human instrument to solve the problem.

3.5 Data Collection

In collecting the data, the writer did several steps:

1. The writer searched for the transcription in the internet. Then, watched Homefront from VCD for several times to match the utterances in transcription and in VCD.

2. The writer selected the conversations of Phil Broker as participants and he selected the data that contains cooperative principle.

3. The writer classified the data into the categories of cooperative principle; they are types of flouting maxims during in the beginning of May until in the middle of June.

4. The writer identified the reason why the participants flout their maxims during in the middle of June until in the beginning of July.
