CHAPTER V
CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

5.1 Conclusion

This chapter the writer wants to give the conclusion of the first question and the seconds question in chapter 1.

The lyrics are seven songs Maher Zain’s song that the writer has been found in chapter 4, the researcher has explained about the types of metaphors such as, conceptual metaphors, ontological metaphors and orientational metaphors. Conceptual metaphor explains the meaning of which is not real or just imagination of the writer, exactly metaphor is a figure of speech, which means no real condition. For example, in the lyric of Number One for Me song that ‘You Have promised’ is as source domain. It’s mean that he is proof of his said.

The second types are ontological metaphors that how the way to get a doing to get of experiences, activities every single day and can keep emotional but this type ontological metaphors is experience so bad in the past. For example, ‘And every time I try to start all over again to the best’. It means he wants to change of his time, he said that to Allah let me know how the way enter to Jannah. He was really getting a shadow it. He is always prayers on time. He becomes the Muslim perfect.

The last type are orientational metaphors that the fact to gain from the experiences. He wants to get to the time when that will come true. For example, ‘I wish that I could find the strength to change my life’. It means that he had the new inspiration in his life. He really believes of his suggestion. He got experience in last time, but his experience is not good. He is taking change to be right, which one always to guide in the Qur’an.

The meaning all the song is explaining about how to the best of Muslim. This below are meaning of types metaphors;

The first is meaning about conceptual metaphors that the source domain is he wants to make his mother to get happy. Target domain is how can do it. He had been working hard, after that he gets to result of his do it. He will give all to his mother because he really wants to make happy to his mother. His mother is feeling enjoy. It draws that the mother is number one all in the world because she had been born to child. He really loved him and not only he had been successful, but also he wants to make happiness his mother and family.

The second is orientational metaphors. Reading Qur’an is many benefits that he always reading Quran every single day and prying on time. He gets experience after doing it. He will be claim in his heart because he always remembers Allah. He felt happy that Allah is beautiful in the word and also said be-gratefully. He is really believed to Allah that Allah creates everything in the world. The Muslim must keep praying every time. The Muslim must remember that reading Al-Quran makes be calm, patient in the hearts, they can keep the emotional when he wants to anger. He always remembers about all the regulations in the Qur’an that there are many explanations of the lives in the world. When we start to go to sleep to wake up, there had been the regulations which give from Allah to the Muslims. The meaning of orientational metaphors is the best of experience and feeling happy.

The third is ontological metaphors. He got of events in the past so bad when he had been doing of the actions, he had many mistake and sins. After he knew of his doing and than he is very afraid of Allah, he’s hoping to given to me all the ways to guide in the heavener Jannah. He asks to Allah that he said please forgive me in my mistakes and sins. He will do the best which always to the accordance in the Al-Qur’an because he wants to be the best only to Allah. Why he is really afraid because Allah had created in the world, such as human, animals, flora and fauna and so on. To remember are important one to thing it, the Muslim, humans always need of Allah but Allah never need to them. The meaning of ontological metaphor are explaining about the experience is so bad of his action in the past.

The writer chooses the theories metaphor by Hurford et.,al at 2007, metaphor is part of semantics. She analyzes the type of metaphors such as, structural metaphors, ontological metaphors and the last is orientational metaphors and also meaning of each metaphor in selected lyric of Maher Zain’s songs which had been explaining before this chapters. The point of the context is how the way to become a Muslim to the best of the God-fearing. And also explaining about Islam is one as religion perfects.
5.2 Suggestion

The writer hopes to the thesis will be useful for linguistics learners. The readers can also use thesis as a reference to another, especially for the research about choosing the semantics of metaphor. After analysis this thesis, she has got of benefits, experience and knowledge and also to the readers at UIN Sunan Ampel Surabaya. The writers’ say a lot of to the lecturers because, they are helping him.

Finally the researcher realizes that this researcher was still far from being perfect. The researcher will open to all good criticism and suggestion about this research in under to become more perfect.
