CHAPTER I
INTRODUCTION

This chapter focuses on the background of the study, and highlights on the statement of problem. This chapter also states the objective of the study. Based on the statement of problem, the researcher identifies the research question. This chapter also discusses the research scope and limitation of the study as well as the significance of the study conducted. The final part of this chapter discusses some key terms which are related with the study.

A. Background

Writing skill is more and more important nowadays. Becoming a proficient writer is a major objective for many students such as those who want to become members of international business, administrative or academic communities.¹ Most business professionals need excellent writing skills to properly convey ideas and concepts. For instance, when the bosses write emails to employees, those written messages should be concise and self-explanatory, it makes the workers can be productive and not waste time asking for further instructions. Additionally, a company’s advertising materials have to be written effectively in order to get the costumer’s attention and get them to read the company’s offers. Secondly, an administrative assistant needs skills in standard written English and in business English. She or he will assist with typing and formatting her/his boss' presentations, reports, newsletters, website content and other administrative publications. Lastly, academic community needs academic writing skill to communicate the ideas and information effectively. Academic writing must be objective, can express ideas precisely and have the right level of formality. For example, organization should be able to write a letter, memos, reports, or composing proposal for some purposes. Those are obvious that writing skills are very needed at these days. Therefore, the students are insisted to have ability and proficiency in written language.

Writing has significant purpose as the main tool for learning. Encouraging critical thinking and exploring thoughts are the valuable one. Writing is to encourage active thinking and learning. Writing exercises have a place in every university classroom. Student will write assignment that may be one paragraph or several paragraphs, or they will answers for test and exams that may be a few sentences, a paragraph or two, or a complete essay. This clearly illustrates how writing can build the critical thinking. Furthermore, exploring ideas through writing becomes a great way in learning. Writing tasks are a must for every student in college, even in composing thesis writing as the final project. Some kinds of writing such as analytical writing or descriptive writing need lots information from the author’s mind. Writing can elaborate our thought. Authors are demanded to come out their ideas, argumentation, and premise or opinion. As a result, writing becomes main device to takes essential function in learning.

Academic writing such argumentative, hortatory or single paragraph writing is a major challenge for students of English education department. They should have lots of vocabulary, much information, and logic writing. To begin with, student needs an essential tool to build good writing. When they have a writing assignment, a good vocabulary is a necessary tool. Students will be able to choose the best word among the several synonyms with similar meaning. It makes the readers find a good sense of the writer’s meaning. Indeed, use strong vocabulary will give the reader good information. Secondly, writing is a kind of productive skill. Writers should have much information to pour out the ideas. Any writing assignment requires writers to gather information. They need to do some readings to develop their thinking, and then hone the ideas through their writing. Lastly, building a logic and structure writing is also the main challenge. Writers should focus through their ideas and be able to translate these ideas into readable text for their intended readers. For example, when writers want to convey their purpose in English, they rely heavily on a translation dictionary. However it is not always accurate because they usually translate a sentence word-for-word without considering the meaning of the whole sentence. Writing should make sense through transitions, signal phrases, and verbs. Hence, students should take into consideration about the challenge to build a good writing.
Argumentative writing is a great topic in learning and becoming a priority for some reasons. First of all, evidence and clear analysis becomes a focus of argument. A well-written argumentative essay has quality evidence and a clear thesis that is supported by each subsequent paragraph. Even, students need to comprehend the logical process of gathering evidence, and then linking evidence to their argument. Furthermore, Argumentative writing prepares students for the real world beyond the school walls. Argument is important in all disciplines. It is the main skill to our success as citizens, students and workers. It can help the students to evaluate products and services for themselves.

The certain structures of argumentative essay include of three formats; introduction, background information, and body paragraph. In the first place, introduction should be interesting enough to catch the readers to read more. Argumentative essays can start with facts, statistics, or quotes that reference the topic of the essay. Then, an introduction must consist a thesis statement. It explains the writer’s proves, and also provides an overview of the arguments into body paragraph. Next, a background paragraph is not always required in an argumentative essay. However it may be essential in writing since the information can make the readers be aware to understand the writer’s topic. Last, body paragraphs have significant function to prove the author’s argument of the thesis statement. The body paragraphs should start with a topic sentence written in own words of the writer. Hence, critical thinking is needed to explain the evidence in proving the writer’s overall point. No matter how good an argument or idea is, it will not work if the students cannot logically outline their research and make a coherent analysis.

The students of fourth semester of English education department have argumentative writing course. In this study, the researcher analyzes coherence and unity of argumentative essay. In the first place, the students have experienced in some lectures in the previous. They have learned in paragraph writing and essay writing courses. That is a good provision to persist in producing a good writing of argumentative essay. However, building a good writing is not simple enough. Still, many students face the difficulties in organizing ideas and connecting the sentences when build paragraph. In other words, their writing is lack of coherence and unity.

In composing a good writing, coherence and unity play a crucial role. According to Oshima’s and Hague’s, a paragraph is a basic unit of organization in writing in which a group of related sentences develops one main idea.\(^2\) The paragraph should be long enough to develop the main idea clearly. It is supported by Bram’s theory; he said the word ‘unity’ is synonymous with ‘oneness’.\(^3\) All sentences in a paragraph should focus on the one thing expressed in the topic sentence. The problem stated in the sentences has to be settled. Unity can be achieved as long as the paragraph has good and clear topic sentence. Even, Artkinson and Curtis cited in Paltridge and Starfield\(^4\) that composing an academic writing is more than just getting ideas down on paper and being sure that they are in good English, but it is a fundamental ways in explaining our thoughts to develop our understanding.

An essay and a paragraph should have good relation to the thesis statement and topic sentence. All the sentences should flow smoothly from one to another and the relations between ideas are clear. Coherent writing informs that the relevant supporting ideas explain previous statements. Despite that, some writings have not clear meaning or difficult to be understood. One instance that shows how the paragraph may confusing to be understood is when the students discuss more than one topic in a single paragraph; also they cannot use the appropriate pronouns or transition signals in the paragraph. It is because the paragraph writing does not have unity, and the supporting details do not support the topic anymore, and it is caused of inappropriate words in connecting the sentences in the paragraph. Consequently, the condition automatically made the readers confused with the paragraph and they will not get the information from the paragraph.
